Sources: FAO (Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations), World Drink Trends 2003

Lifetime abstainers

Data from the 2003 World Health Survey. Total sample size  $n = 6372$ ; males  $n = 2629$  and females  $n = 3743$ . Sample population aged 18 years and above.<sup>1</sup>

According to the Drug Abuse Household Survey of 2003 among people aged 15-64 ( $n=12,033$  people), the proportion of lifetime abstainers was found to be 11.4% (6.2% males; 16.7% females). The proportion of last year abstainers was 23.4% (15.5% males; 31.6% females), and the proportion of last 30 days abstainers was 35.9% (24.2% males; 47.9% females). These proportions have risen slightly since 1997 (rise from 9.4% to 11.4% for lifetime abstainers, 21.5% to 23.4% for last year abstainers).<sup>19</sup>

According to the 2001 National Health Survey (total sample size  $n = 22,012$ ; sample population aged 16 years and above), the rate of lifetime abstainers was found to be 37% (total), 22.7% (males) and 50.4% (females).<sup>2</sup>

According to the 2003 WHO GENACIS Study (regional survey; total sample size  $n = 1377$ , males  $n = 688$  and females  $n = 689$ ; age range 20 to 64 years), the rate of last year abstainers was 37.7% (total), 26.9% (males) and 48.7% (females).<sup>3</sup>

Estimates from key alcohol experts show that the proportion of adult males and females who had been abstaining (last year before the survey) was 7% (males) and 24% (females). Data is for after year 1995.<sup>4</sup>
