<sup>i</sup> State monopoly for strong beer combined with medium beer sales in ordinary grocery stores, does not give any points if beer sales in grocery stores are greater than beer sales in monopoly stores, i.e. Finland does not get any points for state monopoly for strong beer.

State monopoly for strong beer combined with medium beer sales in ordinary grocery stores, gives one point if beer sales in grocery stores are smaller than beer sales in monopoly stores, i.e. Sweden gets one point for state monopoly for strong beer.

Restrictive licence system for off-premise sales of alcoholic beverages means that all grocery stores are not able to get licenses or that the license system is built so that there are special alcohol stores, i.e. the Netherlands get one point for their system for selling spirits, but no point for sales of fortified wines in special stores.

<sup>ii</sup> Alcohol is sold on fewer days or on more limited hours than ordinary consumer goods. For instance, ordinary grocery shops are open for Sundays, but alcohol sale is forbidden including the monopoly stores or the stores in a restrictive license system.
